CHILI ANSWERED.

Secretary Blaine's Last Letter to Minister Egan.

A REPLY TO CHILI'S APOLOGY.

Everything Perfectly Satisfactory to the United States and All Other Differences Can Now Be Settled by Arbitration or Diplomatically—The Chilian Congress Has Adjourned, Which Goes to Show That They Do Not Fear Any Serious Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The following is the reply sent by Secretary Blaine to the Chilian note of apology of the 25th inst.:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30, 1892.

Egan, Minister Santiago:

I am directed by the president to acknowledge the receipt of Señor Pereira's dispatch of the 25th inst. It has been communicated to congress, and has given great pleasure to the people of the United States and to the executive department, as it restores the correspondence between the two republics to a basis of cordiality and makes, as he believes, full and honorable adjustment of all unsettled matters easily attainable.

The president notes with gratification the expressions of regret for, and condemnation of, the assault upon the sailors of the Baltimore, offered by Mr. Pereira, and congratulates the Chilian government on the frank and amiable withdrawal of the Matto Cincular and on the spirit of justice displayed towards Minister Egan. You will assure the Chilian government that the president will be glad to meet, in the most generous spirit, these friendly overtures.

Believing that the subject of reparation for the assault upon the seamen of the Baltimore is now capable of adjustment between the two governments by the usual diplomatic methods, the president postpones, for the present, any discussion of the suggestions made by Señor Pereira as to the use of other methods; not doubting that the sense of justice of Chili will enable the two governments to speedily and honorably make a full end of the whole matter.

BLAINE.

Chilian Congress Adjourns.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A dispatch from Santiago, Chili, to the London Times, says that the Chilian congress has adjourned, after passing a bill allowing the president to borrow $25,000,000 in order to withdraw notes issued by Bal-maceda. Public opinion in Chili is satisfied with the United States, and the press leaves it to the American people and to other countries to judge of the rights and wrongs of the dispute. Interest centers in the precedent which the United States is preparing solemnly to lay down for itself.

KILLED EACH OTHER.

Another Bloody Chapter in the Record of "Sodom," Indiana.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Feb. 1.—A terrible double tragedy occurred at Doolittle Mills, Perry county, forty-two miles west of this city, on the evening of the 29th. That locality has long been known as one of the toughest parts in southern Indiana, and in consequence has been appropriately known as "Sodom." A few months ago the Enlow-Perry tragedy occurred there, in which two men were killed—one of the Enlows and one of the Perrys—in an encounter that was peculiarly savage and in which mercy was neither asked nor given.

On the evening of the 29th Martin Taylor and Dinwiddie Ziegler, two young men of the neighborhood, met at a saloon, drank heavily, played cards and quarreled. Which was the aggressor is not certainly known, but a fight ensued between the two young men, in which Taylor was getting the advantage of Ziegler, when the latter drew a butcher knife from his hip pocket and plunged it into Taylor's breast, near the heart. Taylor then seized a chair and dealt Ziegler a blow over the back of the head, which fractured his skull, and he fell insensible to the floor.

A few minutes later Taylor sank to the floor in a faint from loss of blood. Physicians were called, and they pronounced the injuries of both men necessarily fatal.

This double tragedy, like the Enlow-Perry one, has caused a good deal of excitement, as both parties are fatally hurt, the excitement is likely to die out and things go on as usual till the next killing occurs.

SERIOUS WRECK.

A Caboose Telescoped by a "Pusher" and One Man Seriously Hurt.

HAMILTON, O., Feb. 1.—There was an ugly wreck on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Indianapolis railroad, just this side of Brownsville Saturday, in which an engine and caboose were badly damaged, and one of the crew probably fatally hurt.

A wild freight, en route west, was run into from the rear by a "pusher," which was doing service along that part of the road. The caboose was telescoped, and at the time of the accident one of the crew was in it fast asleep. He received serious injury. The engine, or "pusher," was badly damaged and will have to be sent to the shops for repairs. The engineer and fireman of the "pusher" jumped for their lives and escaped without injury.

Killed by a Train.

MOUNT VERNON, O., Feb. 1.—William Chalfant, a prominent farmer of Green Valley, was killed by a Baltimore and Ohio train at Fredericktown, Saturday. He got off the train while it was moving, and was shockingly mangled. Both legs were cut off and his right arm was crushed. He died a few hours afterward.

STANDING BEAR'S SON Vigorously Touches Up the White Man's Delusions with His Race.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—An entertainment in which the Indian question was discussed both from the red and white man's standpoint, was given under the auspices of the Garden City council, Royal Arcanum, Friday evening. H. J. Jaxon, secretary of state of the Miles national council, opened the discussion by giving a brief history of the Indian race from early times up to the present.

He was followed by Mato Naien Cinca, son of Standing Bear, who, after dwelling some time upon his own tribe's manners and customs, said: "The Dakota thought there was an endless west before them and enough land for all men if they dealt honestly. So they listened to the white men when they said: 'Let us make a treaty.' Every time they made a treaty they broke it. Every time they broke it they had a fight. Every time they had a fight they killed many Indians. Every time they killed so many Indians they said to the remaining Indians: 'Let us make a new treaty, for you do not need so much land now, since your brothers have gone to heaven.' They hoped at last to have no Indians left to need any land at all. They said the good Indian was the dead Indian. This is what they call the Indian question, and you will not wonder that the Indian thinks that among the white people this question is: 'How long will it take to kill off the Indians?' One white man has already proposed a plan. He wanted to stretch wires charged with electricity through the Indian country so that when the Indian touched the wires in going through the woods they would be killed. This plan shows the Indian how much some white people love us."

TWO PROPHETS DEAD.

Joseph Libby and His Wife Hannah, Leaders of the Libbyites.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Joseph Libby, founder of and for fifty years, aided by his wife, the leader of a religious sect in Allegheny county, known as the Libbyites, is dead in the town of Granger, that county, aged ninety-two years. His wife Hannah, as she had always prophesied, survived him only a few hours. She was eighty-two.

The Libbyites are few in number, and they looked upon Libby and his wife as inspired prophets. They believe in blood sacrifices, and offer up sheep and cattle at stated times. Originally Libby, the founder of the sect, insisted that they must offer human sacrifice to atone for their sins, and forty years ago they actually attempted to make a sacrifice of a blind virgin who was a half-witted girl, daughter of a leading follower of the sect.

The altar was built, but the news of the intended outrage having in some way reached outside people, a number of them went to the Libbyite settlement on the day the sacrifice was to be made. They arrived in time to prevent one of the most terrible acts of fanaticism in the history of the country. The idiot girl was already on the altar, bound, and the flogots were being lighted for her living crenation. She was rescued, but no proceedings were ever taken against the Libbyites.

DESPERATE JUMP.

A Wheat Train Escapes from a Fast Flying Train.

HAMILTON, O., Feb. 1.—James McNeilan, indicted by the late grand jury in this county for stealing wheat, and who forfeited his bond—$600—was arrested Saturday by Colonel Thomas, at his home in Adams county, six miles west of West Union. He was placed on the train, and occupied the same seat with Colonel Thomas in the car.

He made some excuse to go to the water closet, but instead opened the door leading to the platform of the car and jumped from the train while it was running at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The train was but a short distance from Mount Oreb, a small station in Clermont county. It was stopped, but Mr. McNeilan was making good his escape by the time the officials reached the scene, at 4:45 p.m. Evidently the leap from the rapidly moving train little affected the prisoner, as he got away.

FLOODED WITH BOGUS COIN.

Many Dollar and Twenty-Five-Cent Silver Pieces in Circulation.

LIMA, O., Feb. 1.—Northern Ohio is being flooded with counterfeit money of 25 cent and $1 denominations. The discovery was made Saturday. Banks throughout the state communicated with one another and found to their amazement that there is scarcely an institution between Cleveland, Toledo and other points which have not been made victims of the rascals.

The counterfeits are dated 1877, and are pronounced by experts as the best ever put out. They are exact counterparts of the real articles in weight, size and design, and the banks have been made easy victims. The government has detailed its best men on the case, and they are now putting forth their efforts to locate the mint, which it is thought is located south of Toledo, in the oil district. Detectives say the gang is working toward the west.

Broke His Neck.

CELINA, O., Feb. 1.—Joseph Hammond, a young farmer who lives near Wendolin, this county, while cutting down a tree in the woods near Fort Recovery, a large dead limb broke off and struck him on the back, breaking it. It is thought that he will die.

Became Insane at His Mother's Funeral.

IRONTON, O., Feb. 1.—Abraham Clatts, of Elizabeth township, this county, while attending his mother's funeral Saturday, became insane from the effects of la grippe, from which he has been suffering, and had to be taken from the scene.

CONGRESS PROGRAM.

Forecast of the Week's Senate and House Proceedings.

IMPORTANT ACTION EXPECTED.

The Well and La Abra Claims Bill to be Voted on in the Senate—Electoral Cases to Be Settled—A Pure Food Bill—A Fight Against Several Appointments. The House Will Discuss the New Rules and Adopt Them.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A very interesting week is promised in the proceedings of the senate. At 3 o'clock this afternoon a vote will be taken on the Weil and La Abra claims bill, and that much discussed measure, which has been the unfinished business for two weeks, will be thankfully disposed of by those senators who had been led to believe that the length of time consumed in its deliberation would surpass in length that consumed in discussing the Blair educational bill. The names of these cases are probably more than the facts. Circumstances disclosed in the discussion which if woven into a work of fiction would be deemed almost too extravagant for belief.

The indications are that the bill will pass the senate by a nearly unanimous vote. Its progress in the house will be watched with interest. A curious fact stated by Senator Morgan in the debate was that only very few hundred dollars of the $250,000 distributed under the award has reached the widow of Weil or the stockholders in the La Abra Mining company. The rest has been absorbed by claim agents and attorneys.

The most interesting feature of the week will be, in all probability, a fight against the adoption of the report of the committee on privileges and elections in favor of Senator Dubois in his contest with W. H. Clagett. It is said that the report will be presented Thursday by Senator Teller, chairman of the committee, and that its immediate consideration will be demanded. Senator Stewart will lead the attack, arguing in favor of giving the seat to Mr. Clagett; but, judging from the position of the committee, it is hardly probable that the report will not be adopted. The Call-Davidson case will also be acted on. It will be disposed of rapidly, the committee on privileges and elections having reported unanimously in favor of Senator Call retaining his seat.

After these cases are disposed of Mr. Paddock intends to ask the senate to take up a continuing order his pure food bill, a substitute for the pure land bill, which passed the house last congress.

Mr. Manderson purposed to bring before the senate his plan for rearranging the official printing, which is not so sweeping as the measure which the house voted down last week. Mr. Hale's reciprocity resolution and Mr. Stewart's free coinage measure are on the table, subject to call, and if taken up at any time may bring on a tariff ore silver debate.

If the report of the committee on post offices and post roads in favor of confirming the nomination of Mr. Rathbone to be postmaster at Elmira, N. Y., is presented, and there is every reason to suppose that it will be, Senator David B. Hill will make his senatorial debut, but the country will not have a fair chance to judge of how well he will do it, because it will occur in executive session. Senator Hill will be joined in his opposition to Mr. Rathbone's confirmation by at least one Republican senator, Mr. Wolcott, of Colorado, who has severely criticized in the public prints the removal of Postmaster Flood and the appointment of Mr. Rathbone to fill the vacancy.

But by far the most interesting event expected during the week will be the fight against the confirmation of Judge Woods, of Indiana, who makes recently nominated to be judge of the Fifth judicial circuit, created under the act of congress providing for nine additional judicial circuits. A meeting of the judiciary committee will be held, and if Senator Voorhees, who has the attack on Judge Woods, does not bring forward more witnesses nor appear himself, the committee will act on the matter and, in all probability, recommend the confirmation of Judge Woods. Immediate consideration will be asked for if the action is taken.

The nominations of the other circuit judges will be reported favorably when the committee reports on Judge Woods' case. Senators Voorhees and Turpie, of Indiana, will make a vigorous attack on Judge Woods' judicial record, and the secret session in which the nomination is considered promises to be one of the most interesting that has ever occurred.

No program of business has been decided upon for the house this week, except the discussion and disposition of the rules. As soon as they are disposed of, it is understood that either the census deficiency bill, the military academy appropriation bill, or the report of the committee on accounts will be called up for consideration. These are about the only measures which have been reported from committees, and, as any one of them will meet with considerable opposition and give rise to much debate, it is thought the one selected for consideration will consume the remainder of the time left after the rules are out of the way. The military appropriation bill, if called up, is likely to be recommitted, so it is expected that either the census deficiency or the report of the committee on accounts will occupy any time the discussion of the rules may leave.

At Newburg, N. Y., Saturday, Major M. C. Mehres, deputy United States marshal, arrested a man giving the name of James Miller on the charge of swindling Samuel Price by the "green goods" game.

A GREAT PREACHER GONE.

Death of Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon, England's Greatest Baptist.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A dispatch just received here from Mentone announces the death of the Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon at 11:05 last night.

Charles Haddon Spurgeon has been for a quarter of a century a leading light of the Baptist denomination. When Henry Ward Beecher was in his full glory, which was at the close of the civil war, Spurgeon occupied much the same place in England that Beecher held in America. Few charringers going to New York in those days without attending Plymouth church, or would miss a chance to hear the famous pastor when he spoke in the interior.

Strangely enough, Spurgeon was the son of a Congregational minister. He was born at Kelvedon, Essex, in 1834. He became a Baptist communicant while he was yet a very young man, and assumed the pastorate of a Baptist church at Waterford. He had already made local fame as a "boy preacher." From Waterford he went to New Park Chapel, Southwark, London, and here arose to immediate popularity. This was in 1853.

SPURGEON'S TABERNACLE.

From the New Park chapel he moved to larger halls, but they in turn proving inadequate the Metropolitan Tabernacle was projected for him, and was opened in 1861. The Tabernacle was dedicated free from debt. It is a monster building, seating between 5,000 and 6,000 people, and is located in Newington Butts. The building, with some modifications, is the present house of worship.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—A double tragedy occurred here last night in the neighborhood of Eighteenth and Q streets, a fashionable residence part of the city, in which Howard Schneider killed his brother-in-law, Frank Hamlin, aged twenty-one years, and perhaps fatally wounded his own wife. Schneider is a young man of good family but of dissolute habits.

Last June he took his wife, then Miss Hamlin, out riding and driving to Hyattsville, Md., showed her a marriage license which he procured in Baltimore, and at the point of a pistol threatened to kill her and himself if she did not marry him. Thoroughly frightened she consented, and upon her return home she kept the matter quiet, but it finally leaked out. The parents of both parties, after consultation, concluded that it was better to let the couple live together and Schneider took up his residence with his wife and sister went to church.

Schneider, hearing of this, laid in wait for her, and on the return of the party from church, he fired five shots at them, three striking young Hamlin, causing his death. Another shot struck Mrs. Schneider in the abdomen and is thought to be fatal. Schneider surrendered himself to the police. He figured in a shooting affray last spring, when he was shot and injured by a boy in his brother's stable.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Hon. John M. Thurston is in the city, and it was whispered in political circles that he was a candidate for the vice presidency of the United States. To a reporter who asked him as to the truth of the rumor, he said: "No, I am not a candidate in the sense of seeking that honor, but many of my friends have been kind enough to suggest that I might be acceptable to the Republicans of the country. I might say, as did old Judge Poland, of Vermont, when he was suggested as a candidate: 'You might do worse, and I know you will.' The office is a great one, and no man would hesitate to accept it. But I have not made any efforts to secure the nomination

EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.
ROSSE & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1892.

The Richmond Register remarks that "the combination of Gorman, Brice, Hill, Crisp, Joe Blackburn, Tammany and the New York Sun to beat Cleveland may suit some Democrats in New York City, but it won't go down in Kentucky, or any other State so far as heard from." The Register ought to have included the Cincinnati Enquirer, Gath and Phil Thompson.

SENATOR POYNTZ's bill to punish minors for entering saloons appears on its face to be a good measure, but a closer examination of it will convince most any one—even its author—that the bill in its present form ought to be entitled "An Act to Protect Barkeepers." If it becomes a law convictions for selling liquor to a minor will be few and far between. Under it, the minute a minor steps into a saloon he will be, to certain extent, in the power of the barkeeper, who can then say to him: "Drink as much liquor as you want, but keep mum. If you blow on me I'll have you punished for coming here." The bill not only makes it unlawful for a minor to enter a saloon, but it also makes it unlawful for a saloon-keeper to allow a minor to remain in the bar. Each becomes liable to a fine, and it will be to the interest of each to keep his mouth shut.

The Holliday bill enacted by the Ohio Legislature last winter is similar to the act proposed by Senator Poyntz. And what is the history of the Ohio law? The Gretna Green, of Aberdeen, says it has been found inoperative, simply for the reasons set forth above. It has been found almost impossible to convict any one under it because it is next to impossible to get any evidence. An amendment to the Holliday law is now pending in the Ohio Legislature which will permit minors to testify in such cases without criminating themselves, and the Poyntz bill ought to contain a similar provision.

PATRICK EGAN.

It Appears Very Plain He's Largely to Blame for Uncle Sam's Trouble With Chili.

Ricardo Trumbull, a citizen of Chili, was in New York last week and in response to an invitation from the Reform Club of the city, he delivered an address which throws considerable light on Uncle Sam's trouble with that country. Trumbull's remarks make interesting reading. We publish the following extract. Speaking of Minister Egan, Mr. Trumbull said: "I desire to say that however my humble opinion may differ from that of your distinguished President in regard to Mr. Egan, and however strongly and unspuriously I may be disposed to criticise and condemn his political and diplomatic course, I am only too glad to pay my tribute of respect to him as a man who, on every occasion, interposed his kindness and influence to save life, and to mitigate the suffering of the persecuted. Mr. Egan honored me with his friendship and his confidence, and I shall be ever grateful to him for his offer to me of his house as an asylum from the tyrant's persecution, as also for the great kindness to members of my family and to my friends. But his many acts of kindness and humanity can not blind me to the fact that he was the friend and partisan of Balmaceda, of that tyrant who trampled on our Constitution and our laws, who in his mad anxiety for wealth and power left no crime uncommitted."

No one could object to his maintaining friendly relations to Balmaceda and his Government; he as the Minister of the United States accredited to that Government; so were all other foreign Ministers, and while they maintained friendly relations with Balmaceda they never incurred displeasure by offensive partisanship. He seemed to do all he could to help Balmaceda, and he was Balmaceda's chief adviser even before the revolution to promote Balmaceda's scheme for the formation of the great nitrate syndicate that was to be the name that was to offset English influence in Chili in all that related to this commodity. The Congressional party thought that he manifested too great an anxiety to buy part of the American navy for Balmaceda; that he was over-anxious to have four million dollars' worth of silver shipped on the American man-of-war Pensacola when he could not but know that, by so doing Balmaceda was committing a robbery and sending off what did not belong to him. We can not forget that your State Department refused to consent to any such outrage.

In all his correspondence Mr. Egan shows his abiding faith in Balmaceda and his army and final triumph. When Admiral McCann offered his good services as mediator, Mr. Egan wrote to him concerning the situation, from which Admiral McCann, as he himself says, "too cautiously," quoted too much, and so disclosed the fact that Mr. Egan believed that it was in effect well for the Congressional party to make any terms in view of the fact that he, Mr. Egan, believed that the Government of his friend Balmaceda could not be disturbed. The wish may have been father to the thought. Our troops two months later proved Mr. Egan's "want" of sagacity in giving such an opinion. It has also been regarded with disfavor to Chili that Mr. Egan's son should have been made in Balmaceda's time the agent of a bankrupt railroad company in order to prosecute a claim of more than $5,000,000 against the Chilian Government. I do not wish to consider the injustice of these charges; I simply state that this is what was believed by the people of Chili.

"After our victory the opinion in this country was very general that Mr. Egan was not a persona grata to our people, and the New York Tribune at that time in an editorial headed 'A Minister's Usefulness Ended,' thus referred to Mr. Egan:

"The recall of Minister Egan from Santiago will probably be rendered necessary by the downfall of Balmaceda's Government. Whether justly or unjustly, he has incurred the displeasure of the victorious party. It is evident that another American would exercise greater influence and excite less proportional resentment than Mr. Egan in the transition period which must ensue for Chilian politics. We doubt not that the administration will speedily replace him, and thereby improve relations with the maritime republic. At such a crisis it will be of the greatest importance to have the United States represented at Santiago by a strong and experienced diplomatist who has not aroused prejudice in any quarter."

"I am sorry that this wise recommendation of the Tribune was not carried out. The Chilian Government, hearing that a request for his recall might be interpreted as an expression of ill-will, made no such request, and, in failing to do this, I think they made a blunder that was far more serious than that of asking for his recall at so late a day."

THE BULLETIN is indebted to Congressman Paynter for a neatly bound copy of the memorial addresses delivered in the Senate and House of Representatives on the life and character of the late Hon. James B. Beck.

THE STANFORD JOURNAL says: "The richest man in a neighboring county was placed on the block at one time to be sold as a vagrant, and was rescued by friends, who thought to give him another chance. They gave him a purse, which he exhibited when placed upon the block. This was the turning point of his life. He took his family and tramped through the county where he now lives and owns more acres of land than any two other men in his adopted county and is well provided with everything needful."

Miss VERONA JARBEAU's "Starlight" twinkled to a very happy audience at the Bush street. There were but a few vacant seats, and from the opening to the close the performance went merrily. Of course Miss Jarbeau was the bright particular star in the constellation of fun and frolic on the stage, singing and dancing with her usual abandon. Music is a great feature in the present arrangement of the piece, and as there are good singers in the company, comic as well as sentimental, there is an evening's entertainment in this fact alone. The business with some may go for nothing; a sweet song and a graceful dance is a full compensation.—Exchanges.

Chili, Italy and Uncle Sam.
(Chicago Times.)

Halloo, there, Chili! What about that Baltimore affair? I want an apology, and I want it mighty quick.

Oh, keep out there, Italy. I tell you I won't be hurried in the New Orleans matter.

That you, Chili? Yes, we were interrupted. Now, as I was saying, I want an apology, an indemnity for the families of those sailors, and a positive promise that the murderers shall be punished. What's that you say? Can't promise punishment until the courts have found the men guilty? Oh, that's all rot. Blast your courts any—

Confound it, Italy! you in again? No, we didn't hang the New Orleans lynchers. You don't want us to usurp the functions of the courts, do you? Get off the wire.

Say, there, Chili. You needn't talk to me about delay and your courts. Just see that you put up an apology and an indemnity and punish those rioters before Wednesday, or there'll be war. See? What's that you say? Oh, blast it all, that's Italy again! How in thunder can a nation diplomatic with the wires crossed this way?

A master Mason, now Tyler in his lodge, Magistrate, general counsellor, exalted story teller, and picket guard on the extreme out-post, young folks of sixty feel that the enemy must get by him before he can come near the encampment. His experience in two wars would make good biographical stuff for the BULLETIN.

No casualties on the ice on our section save the one which befell Miss Laura Bailey of San Francisco, who was the victim of her sister Mrs. Lester's drowning, and has been subject to the ailing and storm parties in our hillsides with the zest of a native Kentuckian. In passing out of the Arthur home, the pavement covered with a glaze of ice, she slipped, falling on her right shoulder, fracturing her arm at the wrist. Prompt surgical aid was summoned and the proper adjustment made, but she is now a prisoner in her room and a great sufferer. The doctor consoles her with the promise that she will be out in two months.

Mr. Ben Wood has received a very interesting letter from his old pastor, Dr. Anderson, in which he says: "We're friends. Carlisle is many and varied and interesting. We have many and sundry good things besides sent us for our Christmas dinner, of course you like your new preacher. Brother Wightman is a very pleasant gentleman and a useful preacher. Kindness regards to my good friends of my old charge. I should like to drop in on you and listen to the pleasant prattle of the dear little ones, May and Edith, (one and two). There is a great quarrel about holiness in our church papers. A little real holiness would be a blessing to all concerned."

Meeting the young widow field-editor of the Bracken Baptist, Parsons Key, he said to us: "I laughed at the boys when they were wrestling with la grippe, but when he turned clinched me in his vice I was ready to explode."

"Thin art terrible—the tear."

The groan, the knell, the pall, the bier;

All we know or dream or fear;

Or agony or life."

I wanted to tell him of Irice Champ's grippe, but he didn't make him sit, to wit:

"Keep the first cold, just enough to make you soundly exercise freely, eat all the oysters, eggs and pigs feet you can capture, avoid catching cold and don't write too many caustic editorials. Avoid debates and 'beware of the widows,'" Cleon!

THE YOUNG PEOPLE.

The Session of the District Union of the Y. P. S. C. E. Closes With a Big Mass Meeting.

The initial session of the District Union No. 2 of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was a success. It closed yesterday afternoon with a big mass meeting that crowded the Christian Church to its fullest capacity.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was presided over by Mr. Waller, of Louisville, an active worker in the cause.

There was a stirring song and prayer service, followed by brief addresses by Rev. F. P. Ramsay, Rev. W. D. Rice and Dr. Mannion, of Augusta, and many testimonial talks by other members.

The meetings Saturday were well attended. Rev. W. S. Priest delivered an interesting address in the forenoon, after which a business session was held. The following were elected officers of the District Union:

President—Rev. W. D. Rice, of Augusta. Vice President—John Duley, of Maysville. Secretary—Miss Carrie Taylor, of Augusta. Treasurer—Miss Mary T. Andrews, of Flemingsburg.

It was decided to hold the next district meeting at Flemingsburg sometime in July.

Rev. F. P. Ramsay, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Augusta, was the speaker Saturday evening. There was another large crowd present. The address was a scholarly one. Mr. Ramsay is an earnest speaker. His subject was the young people's place in the work and worship of the church. He alluded to the fact that most all the heroes of the Bible began their work while young. He said statistics showed that most of the people in all churches entered before they reached the age of thirty years. His argument in favor of the society was that young people could work with better success among the young.

Luncheon was served Saturday in the chapel of the church to all the delegates and visitors. All were warmly welcomed and cordially entertained during their stay. The two societies of this city had homes promised for many more delegates than the number who came.

The State meeting of the societies will be held at Augusta some time in April.

Ring Down the Curtain.

Says the Mt. Olivet Advance: "The last act in the Sparks-Bettys episode has been concluded, the curtain rung down and all is now quiet and serene as a midsummer's eve. Mrs. Bettys came in from Maysville Sunday evening, January 24, about dark, and is stopping with her father near town. Mr. Bettys is convalescing from a serious illness and remains at home in his room, showing but little disposition to welcome back to his arms his erring wife."

The latest information is that Bettys and his wife have "made up," and that they will leave Mt. Olivet soon and seek a new home.

The Dinwiddie McKee Trial.

At Paris Saturday evening, the jury sitting in the case against Dinwiddie McKee for the purpose of appointing a trustee for the management of his business returned a verdict in favor of the Commonwealth, and now the case will be carried to the Bourbon Circuit Court for another trial. This is the second trial that the case has been through in the County Court, the other having terminated with a disagreed jury three weeks ago. Fifty witnesses were examined, and the case occupied all last week. McKee is in bad health, having suffered two strokes of apoplexy in the past year. He has given away 600 or 700 acres of fine land to John McNamara and wife.

The Farmers' Home Mutual Insurance Company.

The Farmers' Home Mutual Insurance Company of Mason County, since it was organized thirteen years ago, has paid twenty-six assessments, amounting to $426, an average per year of 32½ cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property insured. This is certainly very cheap insurance when the fact is considered that indemnity is provided against loss by fire, wind and lightning. We are informed the company is stronger and in better condition than it has ever been.

Last year the insurance was the highest paid any year since the company was organized—80 cents on the one hundred dollars. Mr. James E. Cahill, the Secretary, says: "We have a member to withdraw now and then, but for every one of them we get a new one. We have as many members now as we have had at any time since the company was started and more property insured. One indication of the satisfaction given, the members paid more promptly the last assessment than for several previous assessments. Any one doubting the cheapness of this company ask some foreign company what it will cost to insure.

CAPTAIN SAM GAINES informs the Lexington Leader that some parties are negotiating for the purchase of the Commonwealth outfit, with the intention of starting an Alliance organ.

REV. MR. COOPER, an evangelist, will probably succeed the late Rev. H. H. Kavanaugh as Chaplain of the penitentiary.

REV. CYRUS RIFFLE has returned from Dayton, where he assisted for three weeks in a meeting at the M. E. Church. There were ten conversions, thirteen additions and the membership was greatly revived.

Two of the trust companies at Lexington—the Security Trust and Safety Vault Company and the Fayette Safety Vault and Trust Company—have concluded to double up, and will soon consolidate, so it is reported.

HENRY MERCER, aged fifty-six years, died Saturday morning at his home No. 150 Spring Grove avenue, Cincinnati. The funeral took place to-day. Deceased was a citizen of Maysville for years, and was engaged in the merchant tailoring business.

MR. DAVID DYE has been appointed Division Deputy Collector in this district and entered on duty this morning. His many friends will be glad to learn of his promotion. He is a clever gentleman, and Collector McDowell has placed the position in good hands.

ANOTHER fraud. A Fleming County farmer was taken in by a man calling himself R. C. Moore, who represented that he was the agent of the Cincinnati Weekly Review. Moore was taking subscriptions for a dollar a year and giving a pair of silver (?) spectacles as a premium. He got the dollar, the farmer got the specks, but nobody gets the paper, says the Gazette.

MARTIN GILLIGAN has brought suit against the city of Winchester, asking for $10,000 damages for injuries received by falling over a heap of tiles, sheet-iron and rubbish near the warehouse of Jones & Gay during 1891. He alleges his leg was broken, spine injured, nerves shattered and other injuries received, causing him thereby a great deal of suffering and large medical bills to pay.

THE Mt. Sterling Gazette exposes a shark in the following: "About two months ago a young man came to this city and solicited the enlarging of pictures. He charged $3 for the work, and required $1 to be paid in advance in every instance. He secured a good many dollars and several pictures, which were the only ones had of some dead friend or relative. If any one sees him, send him to this city. We will turn him over to the ladies whom he beat, and will then ship his remains to any address given."

MINER'S MAXIMS.

It ought not take more than a minute to determine what you will do for your feet when the wise course is as plain as a pike staff, if not quite a trifle plainer. Perhaps it is not always an easy thing to make both ends meet, and you may be pardoned for putting up with some annoyances if large expenditures are necessary to avoid them, but it so happens that financial obstacles do not stand in the way of a perfect Shoe.

As a matter of fact, a Shoe that does not suit you and that is not fit to wear, may be just as expensive as the Shoe you can not criticise, and it is quite certain that if there is a difference in price, it is a difference scarcely large enough to be worthy of discussion. Perhaps it is possible to catch a bargain in Shoes, but it is also possible to catch a tartar and a good deal more probable.

Buy a Shoe that will do what you expect it to do. If Miner's Shoes do not do this, it will be because they do more. They will do anything but disappoint you.

HOEY'S NEW MOVE.

He Will Organize a New Express Company.

OPPOSITION TO THE ADAMS.

He Has Already Secured the Contracts and Will on May 1 Begin Operating Over the Entire Pennsylvania Railway System—Offices to Be Established in All the Principal Cities in the Country.

New York, Feb. 1.—Ex-President John Hoey, of the Adams Express company, has a nice little surprise that he will spring upon the company on May 1. On that day a new express company, to be known as the Pennsylvania Railroad Express company, will launch out as a formidable rival to the powerful corporation so long managed by Mr. Hoey. As a starter the new express company has secured the entire territory covered by the Pennsylvania Railroad company and its various branches. This business is now controlled by the Adams people.

MR. JOHN HOEY.

The Pennsylvania railroad system is divided into three divisions, the Pennsylvania railroad division being the longest, embracing 1,295.7 miles; the United railroads of New Jersey division of 492.6 miles, and the Philadelphia and Erie division of 541.6 miles, making a total of 2,816.9 miles. This distance they will have the exclusive right over. The new company will also secure an entrance into all southern states via the Southern Express company, the managers of whom are warm friends of the new corporation.

The new express company will be managed by Mr. Hoey, who has as his backers such men as President George B. Roberts and Vice Presidents A. J. Cassatt and Frank Thompson, of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, who are lifelong friends of Mr. Hoey, and sympathize with him in what he calls the unfair treatment he has received from the company whose business he built. Few except Mr. Hoey were aware of the fact that a contract between the Pennsylvania Railroad company and the Adams company was a yearly one, expiring on the 1st of May each year. Soon after Mr. Hoey was deposed through the instrumentality of Henry Sandford he set to work to secure the contracts so long held by the Adams people.

Mr. Hoey's company will reach Boston via the New York and New England railroad, a contract having been made with President Austin Corbett. The articles of incorporation were prepared by Drexel, Morgan & Company, of New York, who are said to be heavy stockholders in the new venture. A prominent railroad official who is acquainted with the facts of the new concern said that it would be but a short time before it would have offices in all the principal cities in the country. When, two weeks after Mr. Hoey was deposed from the Adams company, he threatened to organize a new company which would knock the Adams people out, his threat was laughed at and it was thought impossible to secure a road to handle the business.

A PRINCELY PROPOSITION.

Publisher Scott Refuses a Wonderful Chance to Serve Pulitzer.

New York, Feb. 1.—Half a million dollars for five years' services—$100,000 a year, twice as much as the salary paid to the president of the United States. That is the figure recently offered by a newspaper publisher to another newspaper publisher, and actually refused by the latter. The one that offered it was Joseph Pulitzer, of The World, and the one that refused it was James W. Scott, publisher of the Chicago Herald and the Chicago Evening Post.

The proposition, which was made by Mr. Pulitzer when the Chicago publisher was in this city last week in attendance on the meeting of the executive committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, embraced a five years' contract at the figure named, with other inducements that would have considerably increased the sum total, upon condition that Mr. Scott settle in New York for the period named and give his entire time and attention to the management of The World. This offer, enormous as it was, however, was declined on the ground that, with Chicago on the eve of the world's fair, it would be impossible for Mr. Scott to relinquish direct supervision of the two newspaper properties in that city. It is said that nothing approaching this salary has ever before been offered to any man in any profession or line of business in this country.

For a few years before his retirement the late President Tom Scott, of the Pennsylvania road, drew a presidential salary of $50,000 a year, and this was regarded at the time as so enormous a figure that many a visiting foreigner sought an introduction to him simply to see the man whose executive ability was considered worth that expenditure.

The powder mills of Camille Drotz, immediately opposite St. Louis, in Illinois, were blown up by 5,000 pounds of dynamite Saturday. The loss is small.

SHOWER OF WORMS.

A Remarkable Story Comes from Clifton, Indiana.

LIBERTY, Ind., Feb. 1.—A very strange occurrence was reported here yesterday by Ben Snyder, correspondent for the statistic bureau at Washington. Upon investigation it was proven to be a fact by other reliable men from the same place, near Clifton, in this county.

Wednesday there came a cold, sleety rain, and with it came a shower of worms which were curiosities, for nothing like them has ever been seen in this part of the country. They were about an inch in length, of a dark brown color and had six legs, which were well developed. The body of the worm was covered with fine hair, and had eyes similar to a fly, so numerous that it was impossible to count them. The shower covered an area of five miles.

AN UNFORTUNATE FAMILY.

Three Out of Five Children Meet Violent Deaths.

VINCENNES, Ind., Feb. 1.—James Little, living near Oaktown, in this county, was killed Saturday by the accidental discharge of his gun. He attempted to catch the gun as it was falling from its leaning position against a tree, and it was discharged, the contents entering his body above the right hip and coming out near the left shoulder. He was about thirty-five years old, and unmarried.

He is the third in a family of five boys to meet an untimely death. His brother Henry had his brains accidentally shot out while hunting and his brother John, while intoxicated, sat down on the railroad track and a fast train ground him to pieces.

CAUGHT AND CONDENSED.
